

HOW TO PLAY “DUCK, DUCK, GOOSE”

Number of Players: 4 or more players

All but one of the players sit in a circle facing the center. A player who does not sit in a circle is called a Goose.

The Goose walks in a circle and touches each player’s the top of the head with a hand while saying the word “duck”.

At any moment, the Goose can touch the next player’s head and say the word “goose” instead of “duck”.

The one who was just called a “goose” gets up and runs after the Old Goose.

The old Goose has to run around the circle so that the New Goose does not tag them and takes their place in the circle.

If the New Goose tags the old one before they run around the circle and take an empty seat, the New Goose sits in its former place, and the old Goose continues the game.

If the new “Goose” has not caught up with the old Goose, the new “Goose” leads.
